

46
forecast...

SUBSCRIBE

NEWS
SPORTS
OPINION
Editorials
Columns
Letters

CLASSIFIEDS

HOMEFRONT
DIVERSIONS
BUSINESS
CAMPUS
RELIGION
HEALTH
GARDEN
ARCHIVES
Obituaries

Community
Calendar
Community Links
Places of Worship
RACK LOCATIONS
ADVERTISE
CONTRIBUTE
CONTACT US ABOUT US

Search

Search

Advanced Search
home : opinion : opinion

February 19

1/21/2008 12:11:00 PM

Email this article • Print this article

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

He won't get her vote in 2008

Dear editor,

Representative Mike Krusee's disregard of the public outcry against the Trans-T Corridor is unacceptable.

Taking one-half million acres of Texans' land - to exclusively generate revenue at the expense of open government, private property rights and thousands of Texas communities - will not stand.

Lillian Simmons

Round Rock

Christmas Family Night a success

Dear editor,

On behalf of the City of Round Rock Parks and Recreation Department, I would like to thank the Round Rock Leader for its dedication and support to our community helping make Christmas Family night a success.

We hope to see you again next year.

Nette Werling

Round Rock Parks and Recreation Department

Thanks for the donation

Dear editor,

We are so grateful that our volunteer, Bob Brinkman, chose our non-profit, record for the Blind & Dyslexic, to be the recipient of your football contest's charitable gift.

Thank you for the $1,000 donation and for honoring Bob as the winner of the football tournament.

This donation will support us in our vision that all people have equal access to the printed word and will allow us to provide more RFB&D digitally formatted textbooks.

on CD to students who are struggling to read.

We appreciate your support of RFB&D's Learning Through Listening program.

At RFB&D, we believe that the wealth of information and inspiration on the print page should be accessible to everyone.

Your support helps provide more than 20,000 students in Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma with the proper tools to help them become more confident, independent and successful students.

On behalf of the students in the South Central States and over 185,000 students nationwide benefiting from RFB&D's Audio Plus books and resources, we thank

Lil Serafine, regional executive director

Laurie Born, regional development director

Recording for the Blind & Dyslexic

Austin

Make constructive change

Dear editor,

This is a speakup to the Jan. 8 Leader article about this E3 Alliance group.

This Alliance has some good ideas on education reform and let me make just or comment, please.

The members of this E3 Alliance speak a lot about making changes. Through n many years of work I saw many changes. I saw that in my places of work, management sometimes made changes just to get some type of attaboy from th bosses - maybe a move up the ladder, money and for various other reasons.

However, I believe that change should be for a good reason; such as to save m to make a job easy, to make the job better in some way such as improving production, etc.

But I saw many times that this was just not done.

So I call upon the Alliance, don't make a change just so you can say you made : change. Make change for some type of good.

After 46 years in the workplace I saw this happen way too many times and all it was waste time, goods, money and manpower - all for someone to feel good ab themself.

Here is a little wisdom. I pray that you might use it to just do the right thing.

Gene. W. Robertson